4 Considering the note on increasing the citation of publications submitted by Dean IRDC

Preamble: Dean IRDC submitted note on increasing the citation of publication. It is stated that, the importance of supporting the Article Processing Charges (APC) required for publishing in Q1 and Q2 open access journals of reputed publishers such as Elsevier, Springer, IEEE, Wiley, and Taylor & Francis.

Currently, the APC for publishing in these high-quality journals ranges approximately between USD 800 to USD 3000, depending on the publisher, the impact factor of the journal, and the subject area. A broad indicative range is as follows:

- Elsevier (Q1/Q2 Journals): USD 1500 – 3000
- Springer Nature: USD 1200 – 3000
- IEEE Access and Similar Journals: USD 1200 – 2200
- Wiley: USD 2000 – 3000
- Taylor & Francis: USD 800 – 2500

Publishing in open access journals of Q1 and Q2 ranking will have the following significant benefits for our faculty and institution:

1. Higher Visibility and Citations: Open access articles are freely accessible worldwide, leading to a wider readership and a higher probability of citations.
2. Enhanced Institutional Reputation: Publications in reputed Q1 and Q2 journals directly contribute to improving our research profile in national and international rankings (NAAC, NIRF, NBA).
3. Global Research Collaboration: Open access platforms ensure greater recognition, thereby increasing opportunities for research partnerships and funded projects.
4. Support to Young Researchers: Financial support for APC encourages early-career researchers and faculty to publish in impactful journals without financial barriers.

In view of the above, it is requested to accord approval to establish an APC support mechanism at KLS GIT, either as a dedicated research fund or under the R&D cell budget, to reimburse or partly support the publication expenses of faculty publishing in Q1 and Q2 open access journals. Considering the support partially/completely once in a year for 20 researchers could be about ₹4,00,000 INR.

Such an initiative will undoubtedly enhance our research visibility, global academic presence, and overall institutional standing.
